Why you joined IPPI:

We chose to join an independent physicians group because it aligns with our core values of patient-centered care. Being part of a like-minded network of providers allows us to collaborate closely with other independent physicians who share our commitment to personalized, high-quality care. It also gives us the flexibility to refer our patients to trusted, independent specialists rather than being limited to a corporate system. Ultimately, it's about ensuring the best possible outcomes for our patients while supporting a community of providers who prioritize individualized treatment over volume-driven care.

What you want your peers to know about your practice:

What I want my peers to know about my practices is that we are deeply committed to delivering collaborative, patient-focused care. We take an integrated approach—combining medical, chiropractic, and rehabilitative services under one roof—to ensure our patients receive well-rounded, effective treatment plans. Our team is passionate, well-trained, and always striving to improve outcomes through communication, innovation, and accountability. We're not just focused on treating symptoms—we're invested in restoring function, promoting long-term wellness, and building strong relationships within our healthcare community.

What type of doctors/providers you'd like to refer to:

We're always looking to collaborate with providers who share our commitment to patient-first care and open communication. Ideally, we refer to independent specialists—such as orthopedic surgeons, pain management physicians, neurologists, and primary care providers—who are thorough, accessible, and proactive in working as part of a care team. We value providers who take the time to understand each patient's full health picture and who are willing to collaborate on treatment plans to ensure continuity of care and the best possible outcomes.

What type of doctors/providers you seek referrals from:

We welcome referrals from providers who are looking for a trusted partner in conservative, non-surgical treatment options. This includes primary care physicians, orthopedic specialists, pain management doctors, neurologists, and other providers who have patients in need of integrated care.
